

Lampton shutter A

In this version, the pivots are relatively close to the centers of the apertures, reducing the polar moments of inertia of the blades. The penalty is the requirement for large angular movement. Note: Counterweights for balancing blades not shown.

